

Baseball Food That's Always a Hit

A ball game just isn't a ball game without the hot dogs, the salty snacks, the sodas and the beer. To best enjoy these goodies, we recommend ethical brands made by companies who treat their employees fairly. If you're headed to the stadium, you can bring your own snacks (but don't try this with the beer!) If you're watching at home, consult the list of products below and make it an ethical baseball feast. Let's all support good middle class jobs as we slug, throw and pitch our way to a stronger America.
